TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Regarding: Lifenet Type Markus Rescue-net.

The Directorate of Shipping has followed and participated in trials and tests of the Lifenet Type Markus and noted the positive developments in its design.

Based upon test results and experience with the rescue-net it is by regulation nr. 325/1985 from 16. July 1985 mandatory for all Icelandic ships provided with a shelter deck to fit a rescue net or other equivalent means on board to enhance quick recovery of men from the sea.

Up to now the rescue-net type Markus has been the only equipment provided for this purpose in Icelandic ships.
